Appomattox County Library

Last week I found a little book in the Library called Reveries at Stillmeadow by Gladys Taber. She has written a number of books on country life and also writes a column for the magazine, Family Circle. She is a person who always looks on the bright side and her description of life on her Stillmeadow Farm in Connecticut makes one wonder why anyone lives in a city. She makes the following comment on marriage, "Glamour flies away, as the cardinals do. But the happiness of marriage can never be exhausted if both partners find new rewards in shared experience, in maturing companionship. I am sure many women would agree that happiness is that peck on the cheek at suppertime and the earnest inquiry, "Is everything allright?" To make this book even more interesting, Mrs. Taber shares some of her New England recipes – for lobster stew, stuffed clams, etc.

Have you read The Dwelling Place by Catherine Cookson? It is the story of a young girl whose parents die and leave her to care for nine brothers and sisters. She fights to keep them all together, even to the point of living in a cave. Other books by this same author are –The Mallen Lot, The Mallen Streak, The Mallen Girl. Our John Willie and Pure as the Lily.

Before Christmas I meant to tell you to read The Lost Angel by one of the world's best story tellers - Elizabeth Goudge. It is a collection of all-new stories connected with the Christmas season, but makes wonderful reading at any time. The stories include both Biblical and fictional characters. Among the best is the story of a little boy who got bored waiting to say his part in a Nativity play and wandered off and got lost. Another is the story of St. Francis of Assisi. This author's books including her recent best-seller, The Child From the Sea have sold more than 13,000 copies. Green Dolphin Street perhaps one of the best known, was made into a film. Others equally interesting are The Scent of Water, The Deans Watch and The White Witch.

Chaim Potok, author of The Chosen, The Promise and My Name is Asher Lev has written a new novel called In the Beginning. It takes one back through the ages to show us the education of a Jewish scholar by the name of David Lurie. The terrible loneliness, the hardships and the joys of Jewish family life are well portrayed in this book but it is a little deep for the average reader.

As this is being written, we hear the news of the death at 85 of the Queen of mystery fiction. Dame Agatha Christie died Monday, January 12 at her home in Wallingford, 55 miles west of London. It will be a long time, if ever, before we see her likes again. She was the author of perhaps more than 84 novels that sold an estimated 350,000,000 copies.

Every mystery fan is familiar with "Miss Jane Marple" and "Hercule Poirot" who were always able to find the clue to the murder. If you like mysteries,ask your Librarian for a list of the ones in the County and read them all.

FOOD SHOPPER
By Susan K. Simpson

Since January has been proclaimed National Egg Month, let's consider all of the positive attributes of the egg. Like so many food items these days, eggs are simply taken for granted. Eggs are unique among foods because of their high nutritional value, versatility, mild, delicate flavor and ready availability. They deserve the attention of every homemaker who plans and serves family meals.

Eggs are considered one of nature's most nearly perfect foods. They do contain many essential nutrients, and they are one of the best protein sources available to humans both in quality and quantity. In fact, egg protein is of such high quality that is is used as the standard by which other proteins are compared.

Pound for pound, eggs are probably one of the least expensive protein sources on the market today. But to compare egg prices by the pound, several facts need to be known. Eggs are both graded and sized. In price comparisons, size is very important. For example, a dozen extra large eggs will weigh 24 ounces; a dozen mediums, 21 ounces; and a dozen smalls, 18 ounces.

So, the next time that age old question of "what am I going to serve?" comes up, consider eggs. You can always count on them to pull you through.

stic about changing our name," Cosby stated, "to be a more encompassing one - especially for our prospective depositors and mortgage holders in areas outside of Lynchburg."

"We are proud of our Lynchburg heritage, but as our association has continued to expand its marketing area we feel this change is needed. We feel our timing is appropriate to coincide with the bicentennial year and look forward to continued strong growth as Virginia's economy strengthens in the years to come," he added.

"Despite a soft real estate market, we look forward to 1976 as a year of renewed new housing starts and feel the excellent reserve position maintained by Lynchburg Federal will be beneficial to potential home buyers," Cosby commented.

Lynchburg Federal, founded in 1925 by P. G. Cosby, Jr., is Lynchburg's youngest savings and loan association.

During its fifty year history, it has grown from a four employee organization with one office in Lynchburg and deposits of less than $1 million to seven locations, over 55 employees and assets of nearly $87 million servicing the thirty-five counties in the central Virginia region.
